THE RICHARD A. COOLEY AWARD IN ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES

An award of up to $2000 will be given to continuing UCSC student(s) with financial need for a field project that results in a tangible, positive action for the betterment of the natural environment or improvement in environmental quality. This award is given in honor of Richard Cooley, founder of the Environmental Studies program at UCSC.

Award(s) will be based on:

- Project statement
- The quality/utility of the tangible outcomes
- Demonstrated initiative
- Scholastic record
- Financial Need
- Potential for successful completion

Completed application consists of:

1. Project statement
2. Description of the action/product
3. Plan for implementation
4. Indication of preparation/motivation
5. Timeline
6. Proposal budget
7. Academic evaluations

Projects may be local (UCSC included) to international in scope.

Preference will be given to Environmental Studies Majors

Applications are available online:

http://envs.ucsc.edu/awards/index.html

APPLICATION DEADLINE:

4pm Wednesday, May 23th

Please email ENVS1@UCSC.EDU if you have any questions.